Relevant issues covered by industry experts

Three main sectors that are currently posing high demand for innovative high-performance materials and breakthrough processing technologies in the ASEAN region were covered in the two-day Summit – packaging, automotive and consumer electronics.

The presentations created awareness on recycling, sustainable production and innovative technologies, as well as Industry 4.0 as applied in plastics processing.

Focused issue discussed in panel discussion

The last day of the Summit had the Panel of Experts participated by some of the speakers who talked about how Asian companies can move toward Industry 4.0. The panel discussion was hosted by Mr. Henky Wibawa and participated by four experts.

In the discussion, the panelists gave tips on how Asian companies can move forward and make their operations more efficient and competitive.

Hot bioplastics trends and achievement in factory tour

The APPT Summit was capped with a visit to the factory of PT Inter Aneka Lestari Kimia, well-known manufacturer of ENVIPLAST®. Two buses filled with participants joined the tour of the company's two factories, and listened to the program where Mr. Teddy C. Sianturi, Director for Downstream Chemical Industry of the Ministry of Industry of Indonesia, welcomed the guests and talked about how Indonesia has been encouraging investors into the plastics industry and innovations in the production process.

“
The presentations are very apt as we have plans to open a packaging department in our Polytechnic of AKA Bogor, which is under the Ministry of Industry.
Dr. Supriyono,
Indonesian Packaging Federation (IPF)

“
The APPT Summit is a great way to meet prospective customers in the region. We are happy that the delegates are from middle-level to upper-level management who are decision-makers.
Ms. Jasmine Xiang,
Sales Manager of Guangdong Forstar Precision Machine Co., Ltd.

“
The conference is very good and the attendance is more than we expected. The presentations offered valuable information not only to delegates but to speakers as well. All topics covered are relevant.
Mr. Rajiv Sanghavi,
Co-chairman of Plastindia Foundation.

“
The company has a new logo and this new corporate identity strengthens its drive toward increasing its presence in the Asian market with APPT here.
Ms. Cindy Zheng,
Regional Manager of Taizhou Kaihua Automobile Moulds Co., Ltd

“
We manufacture plastics packaging products with two plants in Indonesia, and we have plans to expand our export markets. This seminar is good and I learned a lot especially on biodegradable plastics. I think Indonesia will move toward the use of biodegradable plastics as it is very important to look for another alternative to plastics.
Mr. Barnardus Utama,
Managing Director at PT. Ultra Primaplast,

“
We manufacture masterbatches for films and we have been operating since 1994 but only started masterbatch production in 2006. Since we are looking to export to new markets, like India and Australia, this event provided us with important information on new markets and technologies.
Mr. Eddy Sutanto,
Head of Product Development at PT Advance Stabilindo Industry.

“

The Summit is a good source of relevant information. For our side, hopefully, we will have applications for automotive. Our participation in this event created more awareness on our products and what we can do for our customers.

Mr. Ian Toh,
Business director at NatureWorks LLC.

Attendance is very good and the presentations are very informative. And I think all of us speakers are well-prepared and hope that there should be longer time for each presentation. Also, I hope that technical presentations will be published in future issues or online for the benefit of more companies.
